History of Establishment of the Sparta Post Interesting—Anti-Irons Bill

What Hon. John J. Esch did in the Sixtieth congress:

Introduced bill for steel baggage, express and passenger cars on interstate railroads.

Introduced a bill giving interstate commission power to investigate railway accidents (passed by the house, pending in senate.)

Introduced a bill (still pending) to prevent further watering of stock by interstate railroads.

Introduced compulsroy block signal.

In sub-committee on inland waterways commission secured favorable report (Roosevelt measure) and house passed bill.

Same on Rainy River Dam.

With a dozen others secured conference on anti-injunction bill (Roosevelt measure) but was defeated in fight for it.

Secured (after efforts extending over four years) adoption of military site at Sparta, with large appropriation for government post.

Secured $40,000 addition appropriation for addition to local postoffice.

Introduced and forced through bill abolishing use of Irons in the navy.

As the Sixtieth congress closed with the newspapers of both parties characterizing it as a "do nothing" body, constituents of congressmen and senators throughout the country have become interested in the records of their representatives. What has THEIR congressman done, nothing? Cartoonists — McCutcheon, Wilder, Powers—drew funny pictures of the Hon. So-and-So sneaking home through the woodlot and the back kitchen to escape a brickbat ovation or a cabbage shower. It became a great joke, this homecoming of the congressmen.

For the information of residents of the 7th district, The Tribune has prepared a brief summary of the performances of Hon. John J. Esch during this session, and in publishing it we feel a justifiable pride in the fact that it is a record of successful activity. It shows, also, that it has been energy rightly directed. It will bear the closest scrutiny. Mr. Esch has been one of the reliable guard who worked hand in glove with the president for needed reforms and revisions of the law—not always successfully for the opposing forces were powerful—but always intelligently and untiringly.

DEMOCRATS VOTE FOR GOV. CUMMINS

CLAIM ALLISON IS BEATEN IN THE PRIMARIES TODAY

G.O.P. MUST NAME DEMOCRAT

Oregon Legislature in a Pickle—Nevada All Bryan's—Wage Fight on Jeff Davis

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 2.—The bitterest state fight in Iowa's political history reached a climax today when the first state wide primary was held . The chief issue is the question of the indorsement of Senator Allison or Gov. Cummins, both of whom want to go to the senate. Cummins claims his election by 25,000, but Allison men profess not to be worried and claim 15,000 majority. Early in the day in Des Moines but few democratic tickets were called for, though many democrats were voting. The conclusion is the democrats are voting the republican ticket for Cummins.

G. O. P. Must Elect Democrat

PORTLAND, Oe, June 2.—A complete canvass of the state shows that Gov. Geo. Chamberlain, democrat, is the popular choice for United States senator over Senator Fulton, as a result of yesterday's primaries. The legislature is republican, but under the pledges given when nominated the members must abide by the result of the primary and elect Chamberlain.

Nevada for Bryan

CARSON CITY, June 2.—The democratic state convention today adopted a resolution indorsing Bryan in strong terms, and instructing the delegates to the national convention to vote for the Nebraskan first, last and all the time.

Anti Davis Fight Today

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 2.—The fight to keep Senator Jeff Davis of Arkansas off the delegation to the national convention at Denver began today when the state convention met. Gov.-elect Donaghey is backing the movement against Davis.

Correspondence With Landscape Artists is Authorized After Informal Discussion

At a meeting of the park commission held at the office of Mayor Anderson in the city hall at 7 o'clock last night it was decided that the assistance of an expert in mapping out a system of procedure is desirable, and no steps will be taken or expense incurred until a satisfactory expert is secured. There was a full attendance of the commissioners.

Secretary Roberge was authorized to correspond with a number of eminent landscape gardners with the view of selecting one most suitable for the occasion. While no particular expert has been decided upon, it is expected that a selection will soon be made, and work will at once be begun.

The first step to be taken by the expert will be the production of maps for a complete park scheme. The laying out of park systems has become a science, and no elaborate and complete plan is adopted by cities of late years without the advice of experts. The state park board is promoting the idea of system in park making in Badger state cities.

Pending the selection of an expert the commission, after an informal talk in which there was displayed a fine enthusiasm for the work before them, closed the session with the approval of a few bills for routine expenses and adjourned subject to the call of President Hixon.

ACTUAL DISSECTION IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

DR. LOGAN'S STARTLING PLAN POPPED AT CONVENTION

MANY DELEGATES DISAGREE

Believe Children Should Learn by Actual Operation the Details of the Human Body

CHICAGO, June 2.—A sensation was created among the delegates to the American Medical association convention today when Dr. J. A. Logan of Kansas City in an interview advocated an advanced physiology and anatomy course for the public schools, declaring in favor of the dissection of the human cadavers by pupils.

"Of course the actual desection by pupils would be a matter of choice," he said. "It would be much better if each one could dissect our nerves, arteries, muscles and bones for himself, but I should think a demonstrator woold be the most practicable.'

Many delegates disagreed with Logan's plans.

At the formal opening of the convention Governor Deneen for the state, and Health Commissioner Evans for the city, made welcome addresses.

OLD SOLDIERS HOT ABOUT TAFT TALK

REFERENCE TO GRANT'S DRINKING STIRS UP TROUBLE

"BAD BREAK" SAYS DALZELL

Taft Replies that Reference Was Intended to Teach a Moral Lesson to Youth

WASHINGTON, June 2.—James M. Dalzell, aide-de-camp to the commander in chief of the G. A. R., gave out a statement today with reference to Secretary Taft's speech last Saturday at the tomb of Grant.

"How Mr. Taft came to think it necessary to go back into his early career and rake up the only fault Grant's worst enemy ever named, passes understanding," he said, "I see no necessity for it. The G. A. R., to put it mildly is not ohly amazed, but hurt. Would Taft have made this unsavory reference if Gen. Grant had been alive and present that day? That is one test of the propriety of the reference. It was a bad "break." In all my reading I don't recall a parallel to this astounding departure from the proprieties of the great occasion."

The sentence in Taft's speech to which the old soldiers take exception was:

"In 1854 he (Grant) resigned from the army because he had yielded to a weakness for strong drink, and rather than be courtmartialed, he left the army."

In his explanation Taft took the ground that the lives of our great men belong to the country.

"If facts are told showing they had weaknesses which they overcome the force of their successful example is greater to lift the youth of the country up to emulate them than if they are painted as perfect without temptation, without weakness."

FIGHTING BOB'S BOY HAS NERVE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Lieut. Frank T. Evans, son of "Fighting Bob," rescued two sailors of the battleship Louisiana, Wm. Emundson and John Wallick, in a spectacular manner from a dance hall early today.

Evans was holding his own against a crowd of thugs and hangers-on when discovered by the police, who did not recognize him. He was taken to the city prison charged with carrying concealed weapons. As soon as he disclosed his identity he was released.

MYSTERY IN HIS DEFENSE

Explanations of Instigator of Submarine Investigation Indicates All Is Not What It Seems

WATERBURY, Conn., June 2.—In a lengthy statement made public today Congressman George C. Lilley, who is charged with "wilful falsehood, bad faith and complicity with the Lake Torpedo Boat company," by the house committee which investigated the submarine boat scandal, today defended his actions and declared the stigma placed upon him by his colleagues is "unwarranted, unkind and improper."

He charges that Boutell, chairman of the committee, tried to have him called off through his physician, Dr. E. W. Reisinger. He includes in his statement a letter the doctor wrote Mrs. Lilley in which this promise by Boutell is quoted:

"Mr. Boutell then proposed to me (Reisinger), that I talk over the matter with Lilley, state to him the high opinion the committee has of him personally, tell him that absolutely nothing has been proven, and get Lilley to withdraw the charges—in which case everything would end right there."

Lilley insists he could not conscientiously withdraw the charges, as he was convinced they were true. He said he acted first on the initiative of the late Senator Platte of Connecticut.

He closes his statement by declaring he is conscious that throughout the entire controversy his motives have been honest and that he acted in good faith.

WILL DIG FOR MORE BODIES

LA PORTE, Ind., June 2.—Despite the general belief that the "confession" of J. G. Truelson is a fabrication Sheriff Smutzer today prepared to resume digging on the Gunness farm in the expectation of finding more bodies.

Truelson told the sheriff the bodies of a man and woman were buried in a pit near the Pere Marquette tracks and this spot will be dug first. The woman, he said, was his wife. Mrs. Edward Zahrt has told Smutzer that in the same month which Truelson said his wife was killed, she saw an unfilled grave near the tracks.

ARIAS "TALLIED" MR. TAFT

Trust Leader Wired Order for Fair Elections but Wrote Something Else—Dynamite Guarded

(Copyright, 1908, by United Press.)

PANAMA, June 2.—Never in its history has the political situation in this country been at such fever heat, or contained such possibilities of real danger, as now. Staid conservative business men, men of wealth, property and influence, are predicting a revolution and demanding the intervention of the United States. Threats of using dynamite on the canal works and to blow up the hotel Rivoli, in the canal zone, are freely made. Other deeds of violence are hinted at, the whole object being to compel the United States to step in and see to it that the will of the people is recorded in the presidential election which takes place in the last week of June and the first week of July.

Warned by these threats the most extraordinary precautions have been taken by the authorities on the canal works to prevent the stealing of dynamite from the government stores. Double guards are employed and every piece of dynamite is closely watched. Feeling is running very high and the thing most devoutly wished by those having the best interest of the republic at heart is that the United States shall proceed as it did in Cuba by assuming control.

Both conservative and liberal parties share this view. These were the only parties until a few months ago when Senor Arias, secretary of state formed the "constitutional" party. The "Arias trust" owns most of the utilities of the town; he announced himself candidate for president against Senor Obaldia, former Minister to Washington, who is the choice of 90 per cent of the other two parties. The campaign since waged, it is said, has never been equalled for crookedness. The retiring president, Amador, sided with Arias. The combination took possession of the registration districts and the Obaldia supporters were driven away, some times with the aid of the police. This was the situation when Secretary Taft arrived last month. Notified of Taft's coming Arias sent telegrams to his lieutenants saying there must be a fair election. By mail the next day, however, he sent instructions to continue the crookedness.

One of these, it is said, fell into the hands of Taft and was the cause of much consternation when produced at the conference between Taft, Amador and Arias.

Revise Registration.

As a result of Taft's visit the registration lists are being revised under the supervision of Americans, who are visitng all the voting places. The United States government has served notice on the government here that elections must be fair and orderly, but with the Amador-Arias combine in full control, leading citizens are exceedingly skeptical. If Arias is elected they predict there will be a revolution, the worst in the history of the country.

Hot at Squires.

Minister Squires has been called to Washington to discuss the matter. He has been one of the warmest supporters of Arias, thereby arousing keen resentment and many protests. There is more than a suspicion entertained here than Squires' homecoming is in response to their protest.

OLD MILLIONAIRE LIKE DOTHER GIRLS

OMAHA, Neb., June 2.—A series of sensations was furnished in today's hearing of the diovrce suit of Mrs. James Montgomery Pratt against Col. J. H. Pratt, millionaire, when Mrs. Pratt took the stand. In her petition she charged misconduct and testified today her husband had supported another woman. When she protested, Mrs. Pratt said the colonel "mumbled something, but did not stop, and even used her carriage and driver to call on the other woman."

She declared her marriage to Pratt was purely a commercial transaction.

My doctor told me I had an acute attack of inflammatory rheumatism. I read about Dr. Miles' Nervine, bought a bottle and I commenced to get better from the start and for the past six months have scarcely any pain, and am able to walk as well as ever."

THE TELEPHONE AS A BUSINESS

The question of prices to be charged for telephone service is agitating hundreds of independent companies throughout the United States just now. With copper and other necessities retailing at very high prices profitable operation at the low rates offered some years ago has become virtually impossible. The original charges were wrongly based. Such companies as the Wisconsin Telephone Company have been less disturbed, though, of course, also somewhat affected by present prices of materials. But the Bell company of this state has all along insisted that a public service corporation is entitled to receive prices which will enable it to keep its plant in good working order, in order to maintain service of high efficiency, and to pay a fair return upon capital invested. This it believes is a prerequisite to selling satisfactory service. A telephone company, on its side, both for motives of self-interest and because of the duty which it owes its patrons, must treat the public with courtesy and consideration.

A man who is in perfect health, so he can do an honest day's work when necessary, has much for which he should be thankful. Mr. L. C. Rodgers, of Branchton, Pa., writes that he was not only unable to work, but the couldn't stoop over to tie his own shoes. Six bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure made a new man of him. He says, "Success to Foley's Kidney Cure." O. T. Erhart.

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them Remedies of Known Composition.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

Not only does the Wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, bad liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, over-worked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native, medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retorversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

A Feeling of Security

You naturally feel secure when you know that the medicine you are about to take is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit producing drugs.

Such a medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

The same standard of purity, strength and excellence is maintained in every bottle of Swamp-Root.

Swamp-Root is scientifically compounded from vegetable herbs.

It is not a stimulant and is taken in teaspoonful doses.

It is not recommended for everything.

It is nature's great helper in relieving and curing kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

THE NOXALLS BREAK EVEN IN ST. CHARLES

The rejuvenated Noxalls broke even with the fast St. Charles aggregation at St. Charles, being defeated Saturday by a score of 9 to 4 and winning Sunday's game by a score of 10 to 6.

Notes of Saturday's Game

Sway occupied the box for the Noxalls and considering the wet condition of the grounds pitched a fine game. St. Charles got most of their runs on overthrows owing to the slippery condition of the ball.

The Noxalls secured two runs off the delivery of the university man from Minneapolis. After that he tightened up but was backed up in great style by his team mates.

Sunday Game

The Noxalls got sweet revenge in the Sunday game, they clearly outfielded and outhit their opponents.

Sway again occupied the box for the La Crosse bunch and pitched an excellent game. St. Charles only secured three hits off his delivery, in the ninth inning, when he knew he had the game well in hand, the score being 10 to 1 in favor of the Noxalls.

The Noxalls secured 8 hits off the delivery of Campbell, the St. Charles twirler, several being extra bases.

HOUSTON DOWNS CALEDONIA TEAM

The ball game between the Houston Cardinals and Caledonia Commercials on the former's diamond last Sunday resulted in favor of Houston by the score of 3 to 1.

Gilquist was in the box for the locals and allowed but six scattered hits and received gilt edge support, except in the seventh when with two out and Wheaton on third, Briggs let one through which gave Caledonia their only run. Beddow was the slab artist for the boys up the hill and pitched a no run game if given any kind of support, allowing but three hits. Neither side had a look in at the initial sack until the fifth, when Hanson, the first man up, sent an easy one to Wheaton at third, who fumbled it, letting Hanson get first. Gallagher next up shot one to Lohmen on second, which was too fast for the university outfielder. Gilgrist popped out to short center, Abrahamson got a clean single over third, scoring Hanson. McGuire put another to Wheaton but Merlo on first failed to have the glue, leaving McGuire on first. Briggs next up stung a corking single to center scoring Gallagher and Abrahamson after which Beddow settled down, struck out Whitehouse and retired the side. After this Houston failed to connect safely. Gallagher in center and Hanson in right accepted several difficult chances. McGuire at third and Peterson at second received the cheers from the grand stand by several sensational plays, each accepting nine chances without a skip.

Capt. Parish officiated as umpire and gave perfect satisfaction. Come again, Jim.

Earned runs—Houston, 1; Caledonia, 0.

Left on bases—Houston, 9; Caledonia, 6.

First base on errors—Houston, 7; Caledonia, 1.

Struck out—By Gilquist, 1; by Beddow, 8.

Double plays—Peterson, unassisted.

Hit by pitcher—Abrahamson.

Time—1:30.

Attendance—700.

Next Sunday we journey up the hill and expect a close game as each team is determined to win.

Secretary Barron made a flying trip to St. Paul Friday where he signed Dude Lytle, the celebrated colored pitcher, who will don a Houston uniform in the future.

A pick up team from Houston played at Preston Decoration day and took the short end of a 2 to 0 score. Larson, the high school wonder, struck out 12 men and allowed but two hits.

W. R. Ward, of Dyersburg, Tenn., writes: "This is to certify that I have used Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup for chronic constipation, and it has proven, without a doubt, to be a thorough, practical remedy for this trouble, and it is with pleasure I offer my conscientious reference." O. T. Erhart.

BENNETT TURNS TO BASEBALL

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 2. — Recent deals in the Southern league have ended in the purchase of controlling stock in the New Orleans baseball franchise by George C. Bennett, well known as a breeder and bookmaker. Bennett has disposed of all thoroughbred interests and has turned his former breeding establishment to raising farm and dairy products.

Frank P. Coleman, a poolroom man and bookmaker at western tracks, has just completed the purchase of controlling stock in the Memphis club. Arthur Merriman, a former partner of Bennett & Coleman in the poolroom business, is trying to purchase the Birmingham franchise.

Other dickers are said to be on for the Nashville franchise by people who have retired from the turf.

TANNEHILL GOES TO WASHINGTON

BOSTON, Mass., June 2.—Jesse Tannehill, the noted southpaw, for years a pitcher on the Boston American's staff, was traded for Case Patten, the Washington pitcher. The trade goes into effect immediately, and Tannehill already is on his way to Washington. Patten will join the Red Sox today. Tannehill has been suffering from malaria and has not been able to get into condition this year. He has gone in only one game with Washington last Saturday, and then went to pieces. Patten is a steady pitcheromfhrdlm mum mm steady, reliable man, and will add to the pitching force of McGuire's men.

"DO SOMETHING" ESCH

In the desert of idleness spread out by the "do nothing" 60th congress, there is a refreshing oasis which is described by the boundaries of the 7th Wisconsin district. On the first page of this issue The Tribune publishes the story of the activities during this session of Hon. John J. Esch. It deserves to be read with interest by people of the district, for in addition to showing that Mr. Esch was vigorously pressing his measures during the entire session, and that he accomplished a number of things, some of local, some of national, some of both local and national importance, it makes plain another circumstance which is of mighty concern to voters who are interested in being represented, not misrepresented. Read the record.

JOHN J. ESCH WAS WITH THE PEOPLE AND AGAINST THE CORPORATIONS IN EVERYTHING IN WHICH HIS ACTIVITIES BECAME A FACTOR. He was not a corporation hater, or baiter. His aim has been to compel recognition by these interests of the rights of the people. To save the public purse, to increase the public safety, to improve conditions and increase facilities within his own district.

Devotion to these things, and the steady, persistent method he brings to the performance of official duties, have made Mr. Esch a big man. Already he is recognized as among the first score of congressmen in the matter of efficiency and influence, and we look to see him grow into a position of power which his constituents have faith will be exerted ably and honorably for the upbuilding of that better foundation for free government toward which public sentiment and common effort of everyday people and statesmen alike is trending.

POLITICAL ADVERTISING.

"Publishers of newspapers all over the state have come to the conclusion that publishing the announcement of candidates for office is nothing short of legitimate advertising, and it is the universal rule to charge for this advertising at the regular rates."—Bloomer Advance.

"The Journal is pleased to see that the state papers are gradually taking the proper stand on this purely business question. It is all very nice for Tom, Dick and Mike to say in the newspapers, at the expense of the publishers, that the public is simply pining away to have them become candidates for this or that office. And they will continue to do so, and multiply in numbers, just so long as there is no business judgment at the head of the newspapers. All such publicity, and any other commercial publicity, not strictly news matter to which your readers are entitled, is just as clearly advertising as are the display announcements of your enterprising merchants. Paper trusts, metal trusts, highest wages and cash pay rolls are making publishers all over the land sit up and weigh carefully every detail of expense necessary to operate the up-to-date newspaper and the "free reader," individual puff, or any other form of cutting rates must go if the newspaper is to be labeled a success. Publishers, don't put out foolish advertising rates, and when your rate card is published, STAND BY IT!"—Milwaukee Journal.

Above is a bit of newspaper horse sense to which, we are glad to say, politicians in La Crosse county are not blind. When the candidates of two parties have been selected, it is the plain duty of newspapers to support the candidates who they believe will give the public the most satisfactory service. Up to that time, however, the newspaper is not more concerned than is the grocer or the banker in running, free of charge, promiscuous boosts for everybody who thinks he hears the vox populi calling him. Only in case some candidate unfit for office seeks a nomination has a newspaper a duty in the primaries, and in that case it has a negative duty. Not to boost the others, but to defeat the bad candidate, is its function. For the rest of it, a newspaper may as fairly be expected to run the advertisements of merchants free of charge as to print those of the politician without compensation.

The Milwaukee Journal wants to know what Senator La Follette is going to do about the wayward "junior" senator's open alliance with the "interests." The Journal, the Tribune and a number of other papers (not stalwarts, to be sure) urged upon him the danger of his course when he made possible the election of "Uncle Ike," and it would now seem to be the broad-minded part for Mr. La Follette to make due acknowledgement of error and dig up the festive hatchet. If somebody who can—that's "Bob"—don't get this old lumberman's scalp we shall soon be regretting the passing of John C. Spooner. He was not more intense in his stalwartism, and he had some style about him. While he wore the toga Wisconsin had in the senate no representative, but an ornament; with Stephenson there Wisconsin has neither a representative nor an ornament.

And now it is the old soldier who takes a "wallop" at that fat Billie Taft. Truly, to become a candidate is to invite exploitation of one's every error. One might almost as well go the limit and become an umpire.

SPOTLIGHTS

TURNED PEOPLE AWAY.

The Van Dyke & Eaton company is surely doing the business at the La Crosse theater this week. Last night nearly 500 people were turned away and three policemen were necessary to stem the crush.

A good play, well staged and capably acted, and a strong program of vaudeville between acts at such cheap prices is something the average person is not going to overlook.

"The Embezzler" will be repeated tonight.

"In the Hands of the Czar" will be the bill on Wednesday (matinee and night), and Miss Eaton will appear in her famous $1,500 gown.

"The Ham Tree."

The most important musical attraction booked for presentation at the La Crosse theatre Thursday is Klaw & Erlanger's great big production of George V. Hobart's new musical novelty, "The Ham Tree," of which McIntyre and Heath, the widely known black face comedians, are the stars. "The Ham Tree" is an elaboration of the famous sketch, "The Georgia Minstrels," which McIntyre and Heath have been presenting on the vaudeville stage for many years. The chorus comprises young women, not one of whom is over twenty-two years of age, and young men who excel as singers and dancers. The leading principals of the company are Jeanne Towler, Carolyn Gordon, Belle Gold and Alfred Fisher.

Seats still selling at the theatre candy store.

AT THE BIJOU.

All the turns at the Bijou are good this week, and the audiences show no abatement in size and interest as the season advances. Eddie Reeves, "singer and expert dancer," is as good as his title indicates, and gives some mighty clever dancing including some new steps.

The Zimmermans in their Irish comedy sketch, "A Temperance Lecture," have a really laughable skit that makes a great hit with the audience.

Frank Ford, "The Musical Irishman" with his different instruments pleases with his playing, but Mr Ford should work up his brogue a bit—he is a better musician than an Irishman.

Francis Hoyt and Co. in their comedy playlet, "An Eventful Honeymoon," have a pretentious little sketch which is well done, and barring some illogical happenings is very good. Mr. Waters as Edward Harcourt, the bridegroom, keeps up the interest of the turn throughout, and Miss Hoyt as the bride does good work. The minor part of the Uncle is in capable hands and the play as a whole is one of merit.

The moving pictures are interesting and Kreutz' orchestra furnishes excellent music. B. K.

FORESTRY IN GREAT BRITAIN

(Boston Advertiser.)

The British government committee which has been investigating the matter of Irish forestry takes notable cognizance of the waste of the forests in the United States, and as about a third of the supply entering Great Britain (nearly $35,000,000 worth annually) comes from the United States and Canada, there is a logical and intimate interest in England in the American treatment of the American forestry problem. It is pointed out by this committee that the prices of some varieties of timber in England have risen 30 to 40 per cent in the last twenty years; also that the quality of the timber imported there in inferior to what it was years ago, the natural and correct inference from these facts being that the timber producing countries are using up at home the best of their own product. All of which leads the committee to report in favor of a British national scheme of forestry, as a profitable investment for the state. Portions of Ireland are looked upon as quite suitable for reforestation. We trust the scheme will not be found "unconstitutional."

ANCIENT JAPANESE IRON MAKING

(Engineering Magazine.)

The Japanese were acquainted with iron from very early times. A sword that was used by one of the ancestors of the present emperor about 800 B. C. is still in existence. Later, when the great civil war broke out in the sixth century, sword smiths and armor smiths came to occupy a prominent place. Many interesting stories are connected with sword smiths, although this is no place to go into these. From this time on down to about 300 years ago, no noticeable progress had been made. At the beginning of the seventeenth century, when the Tokugawa dynasty came into possession of the political power and peace was restored, all branches of industry began to prosper. The demand for iron implements increased and the scarcity of iron began to be felt.

THE TELEPHONELESS WOMAN

(New York Herald.)

Richest woman in the world declares she never has talked over a telephone. Another instance of the pleasureable immunities which only the wealthy can enjoy. For it has become a moot question whether the telephone is a blessing or a nuisance.

Faith Cure.

"Isn't Jebbs a believer in the faith cure?"

"He is."

"Is it true that he wouldn't have a doctor for his wife the other day, when she was ill?"

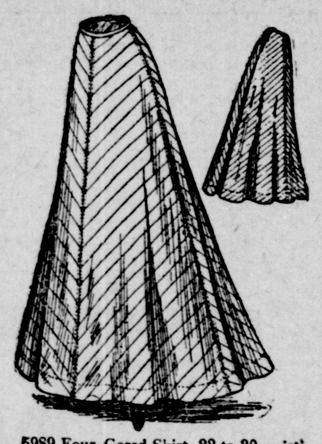

"It is quite true."

"Well, I saw the doctor go into his house just now."

"Oh, that's all right. He's ill now himself."—Tit-Bits.

FASHION HINTS

By MAY MANTON

5989 Four Gored Skirt, 22 to 30 waist.

The skirt that allows of effective treatment for striped material is one much in demand just now, for stripes are in the height of style and chevron effects are much in vogue. This one can be so treated with singular success yet need not be confined to striped fabrics as it is a simple gored skirt which can be cut from any seasonable material and either left plain or trimmed as liked. In this instance the stripes are made to form a succession of chevrons at the front and at the sides but even if striped material is used it can be cut on the straight if preferred. Indeed, the stripes allowed to take the perpendicular line and the skirt trimmed with a bias band above the hem, make a combination much in vogue and altogether satisfactory.

The skirt is cut in four gores and there is consequently a seam at the center front and one at the center back. The fulness is laid in inverted plaits.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 9 yards 24, 5¼ yards 32 or 4½ yards 44 inches wide if cut from striped material as illustrated; 6½ yards 24, 5¼ yards 32 or 3½ yards 44 inches wide if cut from plain material, or with perpendicular stripes, if material has neither figure nor nap; if there should be figure or nap 5 yards 44 inches wide will be needed.

The pattern 5989 is cut in sizes for a 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30 inch waist measure and will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of ten cents. (If in haste send an additional two-cent stamp for letter postage which insures more prompt delivery.)

Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture concluded in Washington a recent address on agricultural economy with an anecdote.

"I used to know a clergyman," he said, "who owned a fine farm, and ran it on very economical lines, so that it paid splendidly.

"Sometimes, though, I am afraid this good clergyman carried his economies a point or two too far.

"Thus, as he was taking his usual daily stroll over his rich, broad acres one morning, he saw a plowman, while the horses rested, sitting on the handle of his plow. It occurred to the minister that he paid this plowman 10 cents an hour, besides board, and he stopped and said, gently, but reproachfully:

"'James, wouldn't it be a good plan for you to have a pair of pruning shears here and be cutting a few bushes along the fence while the horses are taking their short rest?'

"James returned the minister's serious gaze, and in the same gentle yet reproachful voice he answered:

"'Look, here, sir, wouldn't it be a good plan for you to have a tub of potatoes in the pulpit, and while they're singing the hymns to peel 'em for the pot?'"—Washington Star.

Tale of a Transposition.

In times of athletic rivalry no sentiment expresses the thoughts of a Harvard man better than "To h—l with Yale." Dean Briggs of the faculty and Rev. Edward Everett Hale, veteran clergyman and chaplain of the United States' senate, once went down to Soldier's field together at such a time.

"Where are you going, dean?" asked a friend.

"To yell with Hale," answered the smiling Briggs patriotically and with diplomacy.—Boston Herald.

A Profit, Anyhow!

He was filling his first prescription, and when he handed it to the lady he told her it was $1.10.

She paid the $1.10, and after she had gone he informed the proprietor that the dollar was counterfeit. The proprietor looked over his glasses at the young man and said:

"Well, how about the 10 cents—is that good money?"

The young man answered in the affirmative.

"Oh, well," the proprietor replied, "that's not so bad—we still make a nickel."—Success Magazine.

THE PAUPER OF PARK LANE

By William Le Queux

The long, old-fashioned room, with its blue china, its chintz coverings, its grand piano, and its bowls of autumn roses, though full of quaint charm, was weird and unsuited to the home of a bachelor. Indeed, Kilmaronock was a white elephant to Max. He received a fair rental from the farms on the estate, but he never went near the place except for sport for six weeks or so each autumn. The old place possessed some bitter memories for him, for his mother had died there quite suddenly of heart disease on the night of a large dinner-party. He was only eighteen then, but he remembered it too well. It was that tragic memory which had caused him to abandon the place except when he invited a few of his friends to shoot over the estate.

"Let's go into my own room to talk," he suggested. "It's more cosy there." As a man hates all drawing rooms, so did Max Barclay detest his. It was for him full of recollections of his dear dead mother.

And so they passed along the corridor to Max's own little den in the east wing of the house, a pleasant little room overlooking the deep shady glen from whence rose the constant music of the ever-rippling burn.

As Charlie sank into the big armchair near the fire Max pushed the cigar-box towards him. Then he seated himself, saying:

"Now, old fellow, what are we to do? Marion must be found."

"She must. But you've failed, you say?"

"Utterly," he sighed. "She was discharged from Cunnington's—disgraced!"

"Why?"

Max shrugged his shoulders. Both men knew well that the reason of the girl's disappearance was the shame of her dismissal. Both men knew also that by lifting his finger Sam Statham could have reinstated her—or could at least have had inquiry made as to the truth of what had really occurred.

But he had refused. Therefore both were indignant and angry. During the next half hour they discussed the matter fully and seriously, and were agreed upon one main point, that Statham had acted against them both in refusing his aid to clear the unfortunate girl.

"Whatever fault she has committed," declared Max, "the truth should be told. I went to him acknowledging my love for her and beseeching his aid. And yet he has refused."

"Then let us combine, Max, in trying to discover the truth," her brother suggested. "Marion shall not be cast aside into oblivion by these drapery capitalists who gain fat profits upon the labour and lives of women."

"You may imperil your position with Statham if you act without discretion," remarked Max warningly.

"I shall do nothing without full consideration, depend upon it. Statham refused his assistance, therefore we must act for ourselves."

"How? Where shall we begin?" asked Max.

His friend raised his palms in a gesture of bewilderment.

"Look here, Charlie," said the other in a confidential tone. "Has it not occurred to you that there may be a method in old Statham's eccentricity regarding that house of his. Now tell me, what do you know of its interior? Let's be frank with each other. You have lost both your sister and the woman you adored, while I have lost Marion, my well-beloved. Let us act together. During these past weeks I've been thinking deeply regarding the mystery of that house in Park Lane."

"So have I, many times. I only know the ground floor and basement. I have never ascended the stairs, through that white enamelled iron door concealed by the one of green baize."

"Where does old Levi sleep?"

"In a room at the back of the kitchen—when he sleeps at all. He's like a watch-dog, on the alert always for the slightest sound."

Max paused for a moment before making any further remark. Then he said in a quiet voice:

"There are some very queer stories afloat concerning that place, Charlie."

"I know. I've heard them—about mysterious people who enter there at night—and don't come forth again. But I don't believe them. Old Sam has earned a reputation for being eccentric, and his enemies have tacked on all sorts of sensational fictions."

"But I have heard lately from half a dozen sources most extraordinary stories. Up at the Moretouns' at Inversnaid the night before last, they were talking of it at dinner. They were unaware that I knew Statham.

"Just as the gossips are unaware that the persons who come and go so mysteriously at the Park Lane mansion are secret agents of the great financier," Rolfe said. "Of course, it would not do to say so openly, but that's who they are. The allegation that they don't come forth again is, I feel confident, mere embroidery to the tale."

"But," exclaimed Max with some hesitation, "has it not ever occurred to you somewhat curious that, so deeply involved in Servian finance, Statham has never sought to solve the mystery of the doctor's disappearance? Remember, they knew each other. The doctor, when he was in power at Belgrade, was probably the old man's cat's-paw. Is it not therefore surprising that he has never expressed a desire to seek out the truth?"

Rolfe held his beath as a new and terrible suspicion arose within him. He had never regarded the affair in that light. Was it possible that his master knew well all the circumstances which had led the doctor to disappear in that manner so extraordinary? Had he really had a hand in it?

Was he the "friend" of whom Sir Charles had spoken in Belgrade?

But no! He would not believe such a thing. Sam Statham was always honest in his dealings—or, at least, as honest as any millionaire can ever be. The man who habitually deals in colossal sums must now and then, of necessity ruin his opponents and wreck the homes of honest men. And strange it is that the world is ever ungrateful. If a very wealthy man gave every penny of his profits to the poor he could only be dubbed a fool or an idiot for his philanthropy.

He recollected that afternoon when, at work in old Sam's room, he had mentioned the doctor's sudden departure, and how deftly the old man had turned the conversation into a different channel.

Until two days ago he would hear no word nor believe any ill against the man who had befriended him. But the man's refusal to assist him to discover the truth concerning the charge against Marion or to order her to be reinstated had turned his heart.

He was now Sam Statham's enemy, as before he had been his friend.

The two men seated together discussed the matter carefully and seriously for the greater part of the night, and when they parted to go to their rooms they took each other's hands in solemn compact.

"We will investigate that house, Rolfe," Max declared; "and we'll lay bare the mystery it conceals!"

CHAPTER XIV.

The Impending Blow.

Four nights later Max and Charlie alighted from the Scotch express at Euston on their return to London to make investigation.

Next morning Rolfe went as usual to Park Lane, and spent some hours attending to the old man's correspondence. The excuse Charlie made for his absence was that he had been away in an endeavor to find his sister, whereat the millionaire merely grunted in dissatisfaction. Both Charlie and Max were full of sorrow and anxiety on Marion's behalf What had befallen her they dreaded to guess. She had left Oxford Street, and from that moment had been swallowed in the bustling vortex of our great cruel London, the city where money alone is power and where gold can purchase everything, even to the death of one's enemy. Perhaps the poor girl had met with some charitable woman who had taken her in and given her shelter; but more probable, alas! she was wandering hungry and homeless, afraid to face the shame of the dastardly charge against her—the charge that to neither her brother nor her lover none would name.

That morning Charlie wrote on, mechanically, speaking little, with the old man seated near him sucking the stump of a cheap cigar. His mind was too full of the action he was about to execute—an action which in other circumstances would have indeed been culpable.

Both he and his friend had carefully considered all ways and means by which they might enter those premises. To get in would be difficult. Old Levi bolted the heavy front door each night at eleven, and then retired to his room in the basement, where he slept with one ear and his door open to catch the slightest sound.

And even though they obtained access to the hall and study there was the locked iron door at the head of the staircase—the door through which they must pass if their investigation of the house was to be made.

Somehow the average girl just can't help loving a young man whom her mother doesn't like.

LA CROSSE VALLEY BAPTISTS CONVENE

BIG GATHERING OPENS ON THE NORTH SIDE TONIGHT

THE CHURCH IS REMODELED

Tabernacle Baptist Edifice in Excellent Condition—Several Prominent Speakers Coming

All is in readiness for the La Crosse Valley Baptists' convention, which will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Tabernacle Baptist church.

The church has been recently enlarged and remodeled and this is the first large affair to take place in the edifice. The church has been made again as large as formerly and the auditorium which will seat 600, has been refitted in first class style, the finishing being in oak. Down stairs a large new Sunday school room greets the eye and in the rear an up-to-date kitchen supplies the need of a place to prepare church suppers.

The annual opening sermon will be given by Rev. Willard of Kendalls. Dr. Peterson of Minneapolis will then give an address on the Foreign Missions. Dr. Peterson is secretary and a very able speaker so his address is looked forward to with much interest. Miss Cassie Mahlum will render a solo. During the evening committees will be named to nominate the association officers.

About 50 delegates from the surrounding towns will be present, a great many arriving today. Dr. Thomas of Chicago and Rev. Robert Gordon of Milwaukee are among the principal speakers at the convention, which will occupy the whole week.

Nutty—Mealy—Whole

Please learn what a difference there is between home-baked beans and Van Camp's.

But don't deem it your fault, for it isn't.

We have spent 47 years in learning how to perfect this dish. This is our specialty—our one claim to supremacy. We bake tens of millions of cans every year.

No wonder we best know how.

Then we have the facilities, and you lack them all. So the difference isn't all in the skill.

Beans, to be digestible, must be factory cooked.

The heat of your oven is far from sufficient. It can't break up the food granules so the digestive juices can get to them. So home-baked beans are hard to digest, even for the strongest stomach.

Our ovens are heated to 245 degrees.

That's more than twice the heat that gets to the center of your baking dish. We apply that fierce heat for 90 minutes, and the result is our beans are digestible.

That is a very important fact.

Then we bake in live steam—not in dry heat. And we do our baking after the cans are sealed.

That's why our beans are all baked alike. No beans are crisped, no skins are broken. They are baked until they are mealy, yet they are nutty because they are whole.

Perhaps the one thing missed most in home-baked beans is that delicious, nutty flavor. Nobody likes beans mushy; everybody wants them whole.

Then we bake the beans, the tomato sauce and the pork all together, and get our delicious blend. To bake the tomato sauce into the beans is a very different thing from adding it afterwards.

Van Camp's come to you, fresh and savory, ready for instant serving. No work and no waiting. A dozen cans in the house mean a dozen meals all cooked. And such delicious meals! After all your work, your home-baked beans are never half so good.

Van Camp's BAKED WITH TOMATO SAUCE
PORK AND BEANS

Once let your folks taste Van Camp's beans and they'll frown if you serve them others. That nutty flavor, that tang and zest, are missing in minor brands. Please learn how good beans can be. Then we shall not need to say again, "Insist on Van Camp's."

84% Nutriment

Beans are Nature's choicest food—23 per cent nitrogenous; 84 per cent nutriment.

Like meat in their food value, but not like it in cost. See how many you get for 10 cents.

They should be a daily dish—not an occasional. They are appetizing and hearty; all people like them.

Perhaps you serve beans once a week now, because they are hard to prepare. Or because your people like other things better when beans are not rightly cooked.

'Twill be different when you serve Van Camp's.

You will serve them for breakfast—in croquettes or with ham. You'll serve them for luncheons—steaming hot. You'll serve them for dinners—in salad.

You will hardly be able to serve them too often, for people don't tire of Van Camp's.

We Pay $2.50

We use only the whitest and plumpest Michigan bean.

They are picked out by hand from the choicest part of the crop. And we pay $2.50 per bushel. The beans we refuse sell as low as 30 cents.

We use only sound, vine-ripened tomatoes.

Cheap sauce is made from tomatoes picked green, and ripened in shipment. Or of scraps from a canning factory.

We could buy such sauce ready-made for exactly one-fifth what we spend to make ours. But it would lack that richness, that sparkling zest, which Nature gives to Van Camp's.

No wonder that some brands sell cheaper than ours, yet pay your grocer more profit.

But the best beans are cheap enough. They are even most economical. For you will eat more beans, in place of meat, when you serve Van Camp's.

Prices: 10, 15 and 20 cents per can

WHAT JOHN J. ESCH DID IN CONGRESS

the establishment of a military post at Camp Douglas, and that failing, later at Sparta, of local interest. Details of the enterprise show that to attain his end Mr. Esch had to interrupt an established policy of the war department affecting the disposal of the army's artillery, to overcome adverse reports of experts, and to combat a series of obstacles making the plan appear almost impossible of consummation.

Steel Car Bill

As a member of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce having to do with railroads Mr. Esch has successfully specialized on railroad legislation. Study of railroads and their management strongly impressed him with the necessity of doing something to lessen the awful loss of life and limb resulting from accidents. To this end he introduced a bill providing for the construction of steel cars for baggage, mail, express and passenger purposes. That such cars are considered practical and necessary is shown by the fact that several railroad systems, especially the Pennsylvania, are now constructing all steel cars for passenger service and the time is not far distant when steel cars for passenger use will be the regular thing.

To Investigate Accidents

In furthering the safety of public travel Mr. Esch introduced at this session a bill giving to the interstate commerce commission the power to investigate all accidents resulting in serious damage of life and property arising on railroads doing an interstate business. This bill was passed by the house of representatives on May 27th. The proceedings in the house on the passage of the bill can be found in the Congressional Record of May 28, 1908, comencing on page 7464. Mr. Esch hopes that action can be had in the senate on this bill at the short session. The importance and efficacy of this legislation are set forth in the report printed in the above mentioned copy of the Record.

To Stop Watering Stock

In view of the disclosures made in the investigation by the interstate commerce commission a year ago of the Harriman railroad system, Mr. Esch attempted to prevent a repetition of the evil brought to light by this investigation by introducing a bill prohibiting any railroad corporation doing interstate business to "issue any additional stock, bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness, including any form of equipment trust obligation, except for and when necessary to the acquisition of property, the extension or improvement of its line and facilities, the improvement or maintenance of its service, or the discharge or refunding of its lawful obligations.' This bill has been submitted to leading experts throughout the country with a view of having it criticised or amended and bringing the bill before the committee for consideration at the next session.

Block Signal Law

In this same connection Congressman Esch reintroduced the block signal bill, a bill which requires the compulsory installation of the block signal system on the lines of interstate carriers, time being allowed for such installation and the most congested sections of the lines to be first supplied. In view of the fact that the block signal and train control board of the interstate commerce commission has been engaged in investigating block signal systems for the last year and has been making experiments to determine what systems are practical and has not yet filed a final report, action has been mittee on interstate and foreign commerce. A final report, however, is expected to be sent to congress upon its reconvening next December at which time the La Crosse man hopes to secure action on it.

On Inland Waterway Bill

Mr. Esch was one of a sub-committee of five of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce to whom was referred the president's veto message on the Rainy River dam and to which was also referred the bill for the establishment of the inland waterways commission. The sub-committee reported on both the above mentioned projects and they were unanimously agreed upon by the committee and subsequently passed by the house of representatives.

One commendable but unsuccessful enterprise of Mr. Esch was that in which he was one of a dozen members of the house who secured the calling of the conference May 19 for the consideration and the taking of action on anti-injunction legislation pursuant to the president's policy. This plan was refeated by a majority of five votes.

The Sparta Military Post

La Crosse people are aware of the fact that Mr. Esch has always taken a deep interest in military affairs, having for six years been a member of the house committee on that subject, and while on this committee he helped frame the army reorganization act.

However, the military work of Mr. Esch in which his home people are most interested is that in behalf of a post at Camp Douglas or Sparta. For five years he sought to have established at one place or the other a military site or rifle and artillery range. Two years ago he succeeded in having passed by congress an appropriation of $150,000 for a rifle and artillery range at or near Camp Douglas in connection with the state military reservation. Owing to objections made by officers of the militia and the exorbitant demands of some of the land owners and, further, the adverse report made on the Camp Douglas site by Colonel Allen of the U. S. artillery corps, the war department refused to purchase under the act of 1906.

Col. Allen's strong endorsement of the site near Sparta induced the war department to change the location from Camp Douglas to Sparta, the Sparta grounds being better adapted for the indirect system of fire now being practiced by the artillery corps of the army. To meet the recommendations of the war department, however, required action by congress, as the $150,000 appropriated for Camp Douglas could not be made available for the purchase of the Sparta tract. It was necessary, therefore, to again take up the fight from the beginning and secure favorable action by the house committee on appropriations and later by the house and senate.

A Great Change Necessary.

At the very threshhold however, Mr. Esch was met by the announced policy of the war department that all the field artillery was to be removed to the larger posts west of the Missouri river. In other words, the artillery at Fort Snelling and Fort Sheridan, the two army posts nearest to Sparta, was to be sent west and if this policy were carried out and the batteries removed 500 or 1,000 miles further west the government would feel no interest in purchasing land in Wisconsin for artillery purposes. It was necessary therefore to induce the war department to change its policy, and with the aid of Congressman Stevens of St. Paul and the support of the united delegations of Wisconsin and Minnesota Mr. Esch accomplished this difficult task and the batteries of artillery will be retained at Forts Snelling and Sheridan.

Argument Won Battle.

An argument which strongly appealed to the war department and was largely instrumental in causing a change of policy was the fact that the artillery of the regular service should be brought in contact with the militia batteries of the several states and as there are some seven batteries in the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Illinois, the wisdom of keeping the regular artillery at Snelling and Sheridan and the purchase of a suitable artillery range at which militia and regular batteries could be brought together became apparent. This argument was also persuasive in inducing the committee on appropriations, of which Congressman Tawney of Minnesota was chairman, and both houses to make the $150,000 appropriated two years ago for Camp Douglas available for the purchase of a tract near Sparta.

Five Year Effort Wins.

This money will become available July 1 and the war department will doubtless at once begin the purchase of lands within the proposed tract. Ultimately this is destined to become a site of great army maneuvers at which every year or every other year the militia and regular troops of the northwest can meet. The contest of five years has thus been brought to a successful termination.

In addition to the re-appropriation of the above sum the sum of $40,000 was secured for the construction of an addition to the postoffice building at La Crosse, as a result of Mr. Esch's efforts.

The large number of desertions in the navy and the severity of punishment for minor offences, brought to the attention of Mr. Esch by Mrs. C. A. Olberg of La Crosse, whose son has served four years in the navy, induced the congressman to introduce a bill prohibiting the use of irons, single or double, as a form of punishment in the navy. Correspondence with a number of men who had served in the navy and voluntary letters from men in the navy showed conclusively that the use of irons was as much a survival of barbarism as was formerly flogging before the mast. Mr. Esch's anti-irons bill was finally added as an amendment to the naval appropriation bill by Senator Nelson of Minnesota. This amendment remained in the bill with slight modification and is now the law of the land.

PRETTY WEDDING OCCURS HERE THIS MORNING

A very pretty but quiet wedding took place this morning at 9 o'clock when Miss Margaret Sophia Kaiser, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Kaiser, was united in marriage to Mr. August Herman Koschnitzke. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white silk trimmed with imported French lace and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Her tulle veil was held in place with lillies of the valley.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride to the nearest relatives only, covers being laid for ten. The table was decorated with smilax, roses and carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Koschnitzke left at noon on the Burlington for a short wedding trip, after which they will make La Crosse their home. The bride's traveling gown was a navy blue serge. The couple is well known in La Crosse, having always made their home here. The groom is a traveling salesman for Armour & Co. No cards.

CASSIBOINE IS REAL OPTIMIST

SAYS HE HAS A PENNANT WINNING BUNCH

WANTS FOUR OF SIX GAMES

Manager of Senators Who Play Here Today Says Wisconsin League Teams Are Stronger

"I am satisfied that my team is in good condition and will be a strong factor in the pennant race this season," said Manager Cassiboine of the Senators at the Cameron house this morning, where the Senators are quartered for the series.

"We were handicapped during the last few weeks by the injuries to Steele and Fleece, but both players are now back in the game and we expect to make things hum before the season is over. Barring accidents, I think the team will remain about the same for the remainder of the season. I think I have a fast bunch of players and they will make a good showing for Madison this year."

When asked regarding the strength of the Senators at present in comparison to the team last year, Manager Cassiboine said that all the teams in the league were stronger this year, and he thought Madison especially stronger.

"We will not be satisfied with anything less than four of the six games in the next two series with the La Crosse team," he said.

MISSISSIPPI IS AT 10.7 STAGE

WITHIN 1.3 FEET OF THE FLOOD STAGE

DAMAGE IS DONE BY WATER

Work by the Government is Being Hindered, but Launches are Having a Fine Time

With no chance for the water dropping within at least a week local fishermen are becoming despondent over the prospects for the fishing this season. The water at present is up to 10.7 feet, the highest that it has been for some time. Twelve feet is flood stage.

Root river, which is located several miles below here, is on its customary "rampage" and is causing damage. In the vicinity of La Crosse everything is flooded. Dams are at least five feet below the water's level and sloughs where the average launch would not dare go when the water is at its regular stage, are being traversed daily.

Much government work is being hampered by the excessively high water.

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD
If Old Sores were due to outside influences, or if the cause was confined strictly to the diseased flesh around the ulcer, then external treatment and simple cleanliness would cure them. But the trouble is in the blood, which has become unhealthy and diseased, and keeps the sore open by continually discharging into it the impurities and poisons with which the circulation is filled. This poisonous condition of the blood may be the remains of some constitutional trouble; the effect of a long spell of sickness, or because the natural refuse of the body, which should pass off through the proper avenues, has been left in the system and absorbed into the blood. Again, the cause may be hereditary; but it does not matter how the poison becomes intrenched in the blood, the fact that the sore will not heal is evidence of a deep underlying cause. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., may cause the place to scab over temporarily, but the blood is not made any purer by such treatment, and soon the old inflammation and discharge will return and the sore be as bad or worse than before. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, cleanses and purifies the blood, and makes a permanent cure. S. S. S. enriches and freshens the circulation so that instead of discharging unhealthy matter into the place, it carries rich, tissue-building, flesh-healing blood to the diseased parts and in every way assists in a natural cure of the sore. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

RACINE, Wis., June 2.—Racine was in gala day attire, purple and white predominating, ready for the seventh annual convention of the P. B. O. Elks of the state of Wisconsin, which opened this morning. Nearly all of the business houses and a large percentage of the downtown residences were decorated and the Elks' building presents a magnificent sight. Indications at this time point to 1,000 visitors being here during the week. State President George B. Burrows of Madison, came in at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and says that Madison will send 75, Waukesha 50, Milwaukee 150, Kenosha 175, Beloit 30, and other cities in the state correspondingly large numbers.

Today was devoted to receiving of the delegates.

The ladies are to be given a theater party at the Bijou and afterward a luncheon at the Elks' rooms.

Thursday morning the fourth session of the association will be held for the election of officers, selection of next convention city and the constitution is to be amended so as to conform with the national constitution. The ladies will be given an automobile ride around the city.

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake, of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar, and my lungs are now as sound as a bullet. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes. O. T. Erhart.

MUMPS DROVE MAN INSANE.

WHITEWATER, Wis., June 2.—E. B. Crandall of this city, 65 years of age, died at the county hospital for the insane, after an illness which began with the mumps, eighteen years ago.

A relapse resulted in brain trouble. At first his insanity was of a mild type, but it was found necessary to transfer him from a sanitarium to the Mendota asylum many years ago. It was soon found that he was incurable and he was sent to the county institution. At the time he was stricken Mr. Crandall was a leading merchant of Whitewater, and a writer of note.

MURDERER SAYS HE WAS UNDER SPELL

SLAYER OF MRS. ORVIS SAID HE DIDN'T INTEND TO

IS BELIEVED TO BE INSANE

At One Time Grant Poole Was Confined in Asylum But Was Thought to Have Been Cured

FOND DU LAC, Wis., June 2. — Grant Poole, who killed Mrs. E. H. Orvis in church at Oakfield, is claimed by his attorney, Maurice McKenna, to be insane, and his counsel believes he will be committed to an asylum for the insane. The preliminary examination was held yesterday and the case continued to June 11. No bail was fixed.

The murderer expresses regret over his deed and says that he was under a hypnotic spell when he shot the mother of the girl he loved.

Felt Her Eyes On Him.

"Mrs. Orvis had me hypnotized, and I always felt that I was going to be placed under the spell whenever I was near her and she had her eyes fixed upon me," he declared in his cell at the county jail.

"Oh, this is terrible," terrible," he moaned. "I realize now what an awful thing I have done, but I am not to blame. When I saw Mrs. Orvis in the church a black cloud appeared in front of my face. I did not want to shoot, but some uncontrollable impulse made me do it

Afraid of Being Shot.

"I remember of firing one shot, but they say I fired three. Maybe I did. I was then seized with an impulse to escape. I found myself in the woods near Oakfield, and it came to me then that I had shot Mrs. Orvis I knew that the people would kill or lynch me, and I fled toward Ladoga, where I gave myself up to the searching party.

"Yes, I was afraid they would shoot me, and that is the reason why I threw down my revolver and consented to go with them.

"I loved Grace Orvis, but I never meant to kill anyone on that account. I did not dislike Mrs. Orvis, and I know that I am insane at times. My head has never been right since I tried to kill myself, and there is another thing which I cannot explain. I was seated at the table when I suddenly felt a desire to end my life. I do not know why I did it. I always carried a revolver because I knew that someone was chasing me."

Was Old Love Affair.

The history of Poole's affection for Grace Orvis is of some years' standing. He developed an affection early, it is said, and in 1902 it was whispered about the village that he was not in his right mind. He imagined that he was a hypnotist, and frequently told people here that he liked to place them under his "influence."

On April 14, 1902, Poole was committed to the Northern hospital. Those who signed the application to have him examined were E. H. Orvis, the husband of the murdered woman, C. G. Morgan, a brother-in-law of Mr. Orvis, and F. J. Bristol, Mrs. Orvis' brother.

BOARDMAN IS ON THE COMMISSION

MADISON, Wis., June 2.—Adjt. Gen. C. R. Boardman of the Wisconsin National guard has been appointed by Secretary of War Taft as a member of the commission created under the new military law just passed by congress to recommend to the war department such measures as may be deemed necessary to increase the efficiency of the national guard of the different states.

ELECTRIC PROTECTIONS

GRAND RAPIDS, Wis., June 2.—C. M. Dougherty, an electrician of this city, has just perfected a device which he claims will prevent high voltage electricity from entering buildings wired for electricity. At the instant a high voltage current enters a building, it will, by means of Mr. Dougherty's device, at once cut out all electrical connections with the building in which it is used, which can be reconnected again by simply screwing in a plug at the cut-out switch.

Words of Praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Blatz" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Blatz Beer of Milwaukee in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

DID YOU EVER STOP AND THINK

what the record of 17 hours and 17 minutes for 473 miles over all sorts of California roads means? Did you ever hear of a more remarkable performance for a touring automobile? Bear in mind the WHITE Steamer, which made this run, is identical with the one we will deliver to you should you decide to purchase the INCOMPARABLE WHITE. Talk about your sealed bonnet contests or your endurance runs here is a performance which should make our friends, whose hobby is to belittle these wonderful doings of the White Steamer, to do a little bit of hard thinking. Then look at the return trip made in 19 hours 44 minutes without making any repairs or adjustments. Did ever a car make as clean a record before: No broken frames, no radiators held on by a rope, no engine bearings burned out, no magneto shaft sheared off, just a clean score without flaws,—the usual White performance.

IT'S ALMOST A GIFT

YOU SAVE ONE-HALF TO TWO-THIRDS

The still too apparent effects of the recent panic, this sluggish backward season, rain for weeks, conditions impossible to foresee or overcome—compel this sale. It lasts but fifteen days longer and even this immense stock is rapidly melting away under the influence of these magic prices, the terrific onslaught of eager purchasers continues day after day without a let up.

These Men Control Politics Of Greater New York

Latest Picture of the Two Men Who Control Elections in New York City —Little Tim Sullivan, Standing and Big Tim Sitting

NEW YORK, June 1.—Tammany today is stronger than ever. No political organization was ever so thoroughly perfected as is this machine. "Big Tim" is the popular name of the Hon. Timothy Sullivan, while "Little Tim" is officially styled the Hon. Timothy P. Sullivan. These two men can throw the vote of New York city in almost any direction they please. "Big Tim" was the only man who ever met Richard Croker on something like equal terms. He served him faithfully but never groveled to him, as did most of the local politicians. He is powerfully built and very active in every phase of New York life. When Mayor McClellan ran for mayor it was "Big Tim" and "Little Tim" who assisted him. When he aspired to the governorship after the McClellan forces had split with the Sullivan forces, it was "Big Tim" and "Little Tim" who prevented his nomination.

Any one not familiar with the work of the Tammany machine can scarcely appreciate the detail of its mechanism. There is one man assigned to every ten men in the city of New York and he is responsible to the men above, not only for the way these men vote, but for every move they make, so that Tammany leaders can put their fingers at a moment's notice on any voter in New York city. Should a man change his employment this is reported at once, together with the name of his new employer. If a man moves or a foreigner is naturalized, this also noted, and should a report fail to reach Tammany Hall within ten days covering the full details, the man in charge is subject to discipline. Tammany Hall pays liberally for this work and expects results. Charles Murphy, as head of Tammany, of course, directs its policy, but "Big Tim" and "Little Tim" Sullivan are the men who get the results.

HUNTER'S BRIDGE IS FALLING DOWN

The south span of Hunter's bridge which is owned jointly by Trempealeau and La Crosse counties, is found to have sunk nearly a foot and will require repairing which will cost nearly $1,000. Chairman V. S. Keppel of the county board discovered the condition of the bridge and Supervisor Hatz of the bridge committee was notified and is now conducting an investigation. If it is not repaired immediately it is in danger of crumbling and precipitating one end of the bridge into the river.

The defect is attributed by Chairman Keppel to a fault in the construction. The contract, which was awarded to the Chicago Bridge company, called for hard stone, but in a hurry to complete it before a flood came the contractors were allowed to put in soft rock. The bridge is still being used for traffic despite the fact that it has been pronounced unsafe.

NEW YORK, June 2.—London trading was mixed this morning, arbitrage brokers selling a little more than they bought, but in other respects the character of the market was the same as that of Monday. Union Pacific sold at 150, within two points of the highest price reached before the recent sharp reaction. Reading advanced two points, while St. Paul, including its opening gain, made an advance of 2⅝ points. Persistent buying of Northern Pacific took that stock to 138. Other railroad stocks were strong and advanced from fractions to two points. Government bonds unchanged; others steady.

TODAY'S GRAIN GOSSIP

STOCK OPINIONS.

New York—The Grangers are being helped by prospects of a good government crop report. U. P., Atch., N. W., St. P., N. P. and Gt. Nor. may be worked higher in anticipation of good government crop report Monday next. We believe better prices will be seen in the Hill stocks and Harriman issues including St. Paul in next few weeks. It is not advisable to climb too closely. Information is bullish on steels with talk of a big shortage in common and retirement of part of the preferred. Amal. A. N. C. and Smelter appear to be in favor with manipulative interests again and we would not be surprised to see a movement against the shorts in near future. Our position on tractions still bullish. Confidential reports on Reading as stated yesterday are very bullish; good buying of Penna. is found. Low priced stocks like Rock Island and preferred should be bought as they are under accumulation.

Corn traders are giving close attention to weather conditions and corn planting. Hicks predicts stormy weather for greater part of June. A great many crop reports received covering corn planting in Illinois and ranged from 30 to 75 per cent.

One thing a mother is absolutely sure of is t hat she can pick a better husband for her daughter than she did for herself.

IOWA FALLS, Ia., June 2. — A most discriminating record by the stork was made in Grundy county last year, where exactly the same number of girls and boys were delivered. The total number of babies born in the county was 314, of which exactly one-half were girls and the other half boys.

HETTY GREEN AS SHE APPEARED BEFORE VISITING THE "BEAUTY PARLOR"

NEW YORK, June 1.—Imagine, if you can, the much wrinkled, coarsely attired Hetty Green appearing in a stylish Paris gown, following closely the Directoire fashion, now in general favor, with an abundant supply of beautiful gray locks, wrinkles gone, youthful beauty revived, and you have a picture of the way Hetty Green now aspires to look. New York has suffered many shocks, but perhaps none so severe as when the famous Hetty Green, renowned not only as the richest woman in the world, but for her unconventionality, now in late life changes her whole mode of living and is indulging her friends in champagne dinners at $20 per plate, living in the midst of luxury at the Plaza and daily attending a course of twenty-one treatments in a beauty shop, for which she is paying $300. It is whispered that she is preparing to dazzle social New York the coming winter season with the most elaborate and expensive parties she can arrange.

DEAD FROM WOUNDS IN SALOON BRAWL

ST. CLOUD, Minn., June 2.—Frank Vinus Esser died at Obole yesterday morning as the result of a gunshot wound inflicted by Martin Lahr, a saloonkeeper, two weeks ago. In a saloon brawl Esser and another man became involved in a fight. Lahr is alleged to have butted in and to have fired two shots, each of which took effect in Esser's body. Blood poison followed.

The coroner's jury brought in a verdict exonerating Lahr, but the county attorney declares he will take the case before the grand jury. Esser was very unpopular and quarrelsome and his reputation is said to have had its influence on the coroner's jury.

THIRD BROTHER ESCAPES

Though Frantic Efforts are Made to Rescue Lads They Sink With Assistance Just Out of Reach

AUSTIN, Minn., June 2.—Edward and William Maureke, aged 10 and 24 years respectively, were drowned in a lake north of this citp Sunday, when the boat in which they were rowing capsized.

Another brother, aged 19, was also a member of the party. He was rescued by Herman Baudier, who happened to be passing in a boat near the scene of the accident.

Though frantic efforts were made to rescue the other two, it was found impossible and the two men sank with assistance just out of their reach. There was considerable wind and the waves were high.

The body of William Maureke was found at 9:15 last night. Search for the other victim was continued through the night.

REVIVAL A SUCCESS.

ALEXANDRIA, Minn. June 2. — Yesterday closed the greatest revival that has ever been held in Alexandria. Four weeks ago Evangelist Milford H. Lyon of Chicago, with Clifton Powers, soloist and chorister, opened a series of meetings here in a great tabernacle erected for this purpose by a number of the local churches. This tabernacle cost nearly $1,200, and this amount has been raised by collections and subscriptions since the opening of the meetings. Congregations of a thousand on a week-day night have not been an uncommon sight. During the last two weeks many have expressed a wish to lead a Christian life. This number is estimated at between 400 and 500.

ONE LONE DEMOCRAT

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, June 2.—In Linn Precinct No. 2 (which includes the soldiers' home, it was thought for a time that the state primary law could not be carried out, because a democrat, to act as clerk on the precinct election board could not be found.

The home was searched for a democrat high and low, the qualification being that he must be able to read and write. Finally after much search Frank Stoddard was found. As far as is known Stoddard is the only democrat at the home who is able to read and write. More than nine-tenths of the members are republicans.

COLLISION IN THE YARDS.

GRAND RAPIDS, Minn., June 2.—A head-on collision occurred in the Great Northern yards here between a fast through freight and a switch engine on the main track taking water at the tank. Only one man was injured, a brakeman on the fast freight, who was thrown from the top of the cars to the depot platform. The switch engine is a wreck, but the freight engine escaped with little serious damage.

BAKING BREAD

Our demonstration of the "Universal" Bread Maker began yesterday. About 100 little souvenir loaves of bread were baked and every lady caller was delighted. Come and get one of the little sample loaves and a book of recipes and see how easily the "Universal" works.

Remember that the regular family size only costs $2.00, which will be saved in flour alone in a short time.

No. 2—Small Family Size, $1 35

Saves Time

Just think what it means to knead your bread more thoroughly than ever in three short minutes. See the demonstration and get a loaf that was kneaded in three minutes and be convinced.

Saves Flour

Not a spoonful of flour need be added after you have used the "Universal" a time or two. You do not need a bread board either, so that you do not have to waste any flour on that. The dough does not stick to the sides of the pail."

Strong—Durable

The "Universal" Bread Maker is made of such strong and never-wear-outable material that it will last a life time. Every part is covered with a heavy coating of pure tin, so that rust need not be feared.

TREMENDOUS INTEREST IN "AMERICAN WEEK!"

We are in receipt of scores of letters from leading manufacturers, from Boards of Trade, Newspapers and individuals, not only in our own city of La Crosse, but from other points where the news has spread thru the good offices of travelling men, commending the Store's EXPOSITION of GOODS MADE IN AMERICA AND PARTICULARLY OF THOSE MADE IN LA CROSSE. All express the hope and opinion that it means a new era, in this section particularly, for Home Industries and American made goods. Visitors to the Store, from far and near, are amazed at the variety, the fine quality and the quantity of American goods. Such a display as is shown now in this Store would not be possible anywhere else, not only in this city but in all the State of Wisconsin (with the possible exception of Milwaukee—where prices would necessarily be higher—) for the simple reason that nowhere else is gathered under one roof such a tremendous stock of so carefully chosen, finely made American and La Crosse made goods. THE GREAT EXPOSITIONS AND SALES CONTINUE ALL THRU THE WEEK!
